NEBOSH International General Certificate

This course is ideal for managers, supervisors and employees with health and safety responsibilities based outside of the UK. If you are based in the UK, we recommend the NEBOSH National General Certificate.

The course has no formal entry requirements.

What is the NEBOSH International General Certificate?

The NEBOSH International General Certificate (2018) is a globally recognised and respected health and safety qualification, held by around 90,000 people worldwide.

Covering two core units, the General Certificate provides the key information needed by managers and supervisors to ensure their workplace remains safe and that workplace risks are minimised. In addition, the course is an excellent foundation for those aspiring to a career in Health and Safety, facilitating progression to further professional study and career development.

In line with legislation and guidance from the WHO (World Health Organization), the General Certificate teaches to the high standards required by health and safety professionals across the globe.

Why should I study the NEBOSH International General Certificate?

Benefits for Learners

- Create a strong foundation for a career in health and safety
- Develop confidence in your role as a health and safety practitioner with key knowledge and skills
- Learn to recognise and minimise workplace risk so you can safeguard your peers

Benefits for Employers

- Improve health and safety culture across your business
- Increase productivity with less days of absence due to workplace induced accident or illness
- Demonstrate your commitment to health and safety to both employees and fellow businesses

Duration

The NEBOSH International General Certificate will involve a minimum of 65 taught hours and approximately 40 hours of private study and background reading.

When studied through in-house or virtual classroom learning, the course is 9 days.

Our classroom course timings are 09:00-17:00 Monday - Friday.

Course Programme

The NEBOSH International General Certificate consists of two Units:

Unit IG1: Management of Health and Safety

- Element 1 Why we should manage workplace health and safety.
- Element 2 How health and safety management systems work and what they look like.
- Element 3 Managing risk - understanding people and processes.
- Element 4 Health and safety monitoring and measuring.

Unit IG2: Risk Assessment

- Element 5 Physical and psychological health.
- Element 6 Musculoskeletal health.
- Element 7 Chemical and biological agents.
- Element 8 General workplace issues.
- Element 9 Work equipment.
- Element 10 Fire.
- Element 11 Electricity.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of the course, candidates will have developed the skills to do the following:

- Justify health and safety improvements using moral, financial and legal arguments
- Advise on the main duties for health and safety in the workplace and help their organisation manage contractors
- Work within a health and safety management system, recognising what effective policy, organisational responsibilities and arrangements should look like
- Positively influence health and safety culture and behaviour to improve performance in their organisation
- Do a general risk assessment in their own workplace – profiling and prioritising risks, inspecting the workplace, recognising a range of common hazards, evaluating risks (taking account of current controls), recommending further control measures, planning actions
- Recognise workplace changes that have significant health and safety impacts and effective ways to minimise those impacts
- Develop basic safe systems of work (including taking account of typical emergencies) and knowing when to use permit-to-work systems for special risks

Next steps

Achieving the NEBOSH International General certificate leads to the opportunity to take NEBOSH qualifications focused on specific industries, such as construction, fire and the environment. After studying this Certificate, many candidates also progress to the degree-level NEBOSH International Diploma.

Assessment

The updated NEBOSH International Certificate course now features one written exam and one practical exam:

- Unit IG1 (replacing IGC1) includes an open book, scenario-based exam which you can do from home.
- Unit IG2 is assessed by a practical assessment, which is longer than the previous GC3 assessment at 3 hours.

If you are booking a virtual classroom course, your exam cost will be included within the price.

Exam dates are set by NEBOSH and can be found on our 'book a NEBOSH exam' page.
